

PAIA Manual

Manual under section 51 of the Promotion of Access to Information Act, 2000 (PAIA) — the records we hold, how to request access to information, and how this connects to your privacy rights under POPIA.

Private body: Carron Investments (Pty) Ltd (Registration No. 2017/539242/07), trading as Carron Business Advisory · Prepared under PAIA section 51 · Last updated 18 September 2026.

1. Introduction and purpose

This manual is published in terms of section 51 of the Promotion of Access to Information Act, 2 of 2000 (PAIA). PAIA gives effect to the constitutional right of access to information. It sets out the records held by Carron Investments (Pty) Ltd, trading as Carron Business Advisory ("Carron", "we", "us"), and how a person may request access to them.

It also reflects our obligations as a "responsible party" under the Protection of Personal Information Act, 4 of 2013 (POPIA) — how we process personal information is described in full in our Privacy Notice at carron.co.za/privacy.

4. The Guide on how to use PAIA

The Information Regulator has compiled a Guide, in terms of section 10 of PAIA, on how to use the Act. It is available in each official language from the Information Regulator at the contact details above, or on its website.

5. Records we hold, by category

We hold the following broad categories of records. Access to any record remains subject to the grounds for refusal in Chapter 4 of PAIA (see section 8) — in particular the mandatory protection of other people's personal information and of confidential commercial information.

- Statutory and company records — incorporation documents, the Memorandum of Incorporation, CIPC filings, share register, and directors' and members' records.
- Financial records — accounting records, bank statements, invoices, management accounts and annual financial statements.
- Tax records — income-tax records and related correspondence with SARS (we are not registered for VAT).

- Client and engagement records — engagement letters, correspondence, advisory deliverables, and financial information that clients share with us in confidence.
- Website and marketing records — the details captured through our online tools and forms (name, email address and a summary of a tool result), as described in our Privacy Notice. We do not retain the raw financial figures entered into the tools.
- Supplier and service-provider records — agreements and correspondence with our operators (for example hosting, payment and form-delivery providers).
- Personnel records — records relating to any employees or contractors, where applicable.

6. Records accessible in terms of other legislation

Certain records may be accessed, or must be kept, under other laws — for example the Companies Act, 71 of 2008; the Income Tax Act, 58 of 1962; POPIA; the Basic Conditions of Employment Act; the Labour Relations Act; the Unemployment Insurance Act; the Compensation for Occupational Injuries and Diseases Act; the Electronic Communications and Transactions Act, 25 of 2002; and the Consumer Protection Act, 68 of 2008 — each where and to the extent it applies. Access under those laws follows their own procedures, not PAIA.

7. Records available without a PAIA request

Some information is already freely available and does not require a formal request — for example the content published on our website, our service descriptions, insight articles, and this manual.

8. How to request access to a record

To request access to a record we hold, please:

- complete the prescribed Form 2 (Request for Access to Record of Private Body), available from the Information Regulator's website;
- send it to the Information Officer at info@carron.co.za;
- provide enough detail to identify the record and the form of access you want, and a contact address;
- if you are requesting the record on behalf of someone else, provide proof of your authority;
- pay the prescribed request fee, and any access fee, as set out in section 10.

We will ordinarily decide on the request within 30 days, and will tell you the decision, any fee payable, and your rights to appeal or apply to court. This period may be extended in the limited circumstances PAIA allows (for example where the request covers a large number of records).

9. Grounds on which access may be refused

We must or may refuse access on the grounds set out in Chapter 4 of PAIA. These include the mandatory protection of:

- another person's personal information (their privacy);
- confidential commercial information of a third party or of Carron (trade secrets, financial, commercial, scientific or technical information);
- information supplied in confidence, or subject to legal professional privilege;
- records whose disclosure would endanger a person's life or safety.

Where only part of a record is protected, we will give access to the remainder where it is reasonably possible to separate it.

10. Fees

PAIA provides for a request fee, an access fee (calculated on the time and materials needed to prepare the record), and in some cases a deposit. The amounts are those prescribed in the PAIA Regulations, as amended from time to time. The current fees, and how they apply to your request, are available from the Information Officer on request.

11. If you are unhappy with a decision (remedies)

PAIA does not provide an internal appeal against a private body's decision. If we refuse a request, or you are dissatisfied with how it was handled, you may lodge a complaint with the Information Regulator, or apply to a court for appropriate relief, within the periods PAIA allows.

12. Processing of personal information (POPIA)

As a responsible party under POPIA, we process personal information — principally the name, email address and result summary of people who use our tools or contact us — for the purposes of providing our services, responding to enquiries and, with consent, following up. The categories of data subjects, the personal information involved, the recipients (our operators), any cross-border transfers, and the security measures we apply are set out in full in our Privacy Notice at carron.co.za/privacy, which forms part of this manual.

13. Availability of this manual

This manual is available free of charge on this website, and on request from the Information Officer. A copy will be provided to the Information Regulator on request.

This manual is provided for transparency and PAIA compliance and does not, on its own, constitute legal advice.
